

1. What is the output of the program?

44

54

44

2. Which line contains a function header?

Line 5

3. Which line(s) constitute of the main program?

Line 9 and 11

4. Is there a local variable defined anywhere? If so what is its scope?

The local variable is 9.

Its only accessed by members of function f.

5. Does the function f reference any global variables?

The function doesn't reference any local variables.

6. Does the function f reference any global variables?

The function f references a global variable

7. Which lines constitute of the function body?

Lines 6 and 7

8. Are there any arguments used in the program? If so what and where are they? (tricky)

The argument is 12 and it is in line 10

9. Are there any parameters defined in the program? Explain.

X is the parameter. It is the variable listed inside the parentheses in the function definition.

10. What does the last line do?

It is used as a placeholder for future code.